ABOUT THE DATA

The data originally comes from the U.S. Geological Survey and covers mining operations across the entirety of the United States. However, this map depicts active mines solely in the state of Arizona.

INDUSTRIAL MINERALS

A noticeable concentration of sandstone and pumice mining operations can be found in southern Coconino County and northern Yavapai County, along the Interstate 40 corridor.

METAL ORE

Metallic ore mines tie deeply into Arizona's rich history, dating back to the first European colonizers arriving in the area in search of gold. The majority of metallic ore mining operations can be found in the southern portion of the state. However, some can be found in the

COAL MINING

The sole bituminous coal mining operation is found in the far northeast corner, located on the Navajo Nation, which poses an interesting conflict of economic land use, environmental preservation and the will of the Navajo people residing on the land.

TURQUOISE

Turquoise mining in this part of the country dates to the Pre-Columbian era, when indigenous peoples sought the lumious mineral using stone tools. Today, Arizona is currently the top producer of turquoise by value in the world.
